Descriptions of Academic Programs:
Information on the university’s academic programs, degree offerings, and plans for future programs is available from the various schools/colleges and admitting offices (Undergraduate Admissions and Rackham School of Graduate Studies). See https://umich.edu/schools-colleges for contact information.

Distance Education:
Universities are required to comply with the distance education laws of each individual state. If you are an out-of-state student seeking to enroll in an online U-M program, or if you are an online student considering moving to another state, you should check U-M’s status with that state. Visit www.umflint.edu/oei/online-state-authorization to determine if your program is authorized in your home/target state. Participating in a program not authorized by your state could result in loss of ability to transfer credits. Complaints regarding an online program (CONTINUED) should first be pursued according to the U-M policy found in the "Compliance and U-M Policies" section below. Unresolved complaints may be escalated to the respective state; contact information for each state may be found on the website of the State Higher Education Executive Officers Association (http://www.sheeo.org/node/589).

Faculty:
Information on faculty and instructional personnel is available from the various schools/colleges (https://umich.edu/schools-colleges). The Center for Research on Learning and Teaching (http://crit.umich.edu/gsis/gsitraining for information on training GSIS students).

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA):
In carrying out their assigned responsibilities, many offices at U-M collect and maintain student information. Although these records belong to the university, both university policy and federal law accord students a number of rights concerning these records. The Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, or FERPA, establishes the regulations regarding access to and disclosure of student records.

To fulfill FERPA requirements, the university has established Policies on Student Records. These policies outline a student’s rights regarding his/her records, where records about the student may be kept and maintained, what kinds of information are in those records, the conditions under which the student or anyone else may have access to information in those records, and what action a student can take if the information in his/her record is inaccurate or that the student’s rights have been compromised. Student record policies are on the web at www://ro.umich.edu/ferpa. For more information or to receive a copy, contact the Office of the Registrar, 2200 Student Activities Bldg., 515 E. Jefferson St., Tel: (734) 647-3507.

Because the university does not maintain all student records in one location, each office maintaining student records is required by the U-M Regents to develop a written statement of policies and procedures for handling those records; these statements are available for students to examine in the respective offices. In addition, copies of the university’s policies on student records and FERPA are posted in the Office of the Registrar’s Student Services locations and are also available in all deans’ offices (https://umich.edu/schools-colleges).

Instructional Facilities and Labs:
Information on instructional facilities and laboratories is available from the various schools/colleges and admitting offices (Undergraduate Admissions and Rackham School of Graduate Studies); see https://umich.edu/schools-colleges.

Refund Policy:
The university has a tuition refund policy stipulating the amount of tuition and fees that are refunded to a student who withdraws from all classes during a term. Visit https://finaid.umich.edu/withdraw. Graduate Business, Dental, Law and Medical students: contact your aid office.

Repayment Policy (Return of Title IV Aid):
The federal government mandates that students who withdraw from all classes may only keep the financial aid (federal Title IV grant and loan assistance) they have “earned” up to the time of withdrawal. Funds that were disbursed in excess of the earned amount must be returned by the university and/or the student to the federal government. The repayment policy is available online at https://finaid.umich.edu/withdraw and from the Office of Financial Aid. Graduate Business, Dental, Law and Medical students: contact your aid office.

Student Activities:
Student life at U-M offers the kid of thoroughly engaging opportunities most major public universities afford their students. For information about other student activities and organizations specific to your program, visit your individual school and college website: https://umich.edu/schools-colleges.

Student Body Diversity:
For information about student body diversity, contact:

See information about the tool at https://finaid.umich.edu/wp-content/uploads/TextbookScreen.pdf or contact the Registrar’s Office for additional information.

Transfer Credit Policy:
Visit https://admissions.umich.edu/apply/transfer-students/transfer-credit-for-information.

Withdrawal Procedures:
Students who are withdrawing from all classes at the university must notify the Registrar’s Office by following specific withdrawal procedures posted on the web at http://ro.umich.edu (see “How to withdraw from a term”). Graduate Business, Dental, Law and Medical students must contact their respective financial aid offices.

Be alert to potential Scholarship Fraud
The Federal Trade Commission suggests that students avoid any fraudulent scholarship service or website that promises: a money-back guarantee, asks for a bank or credit card number, tells a student a scholarship will cost money or indicates they have been selected for something for which they did not apply. The College Scholarship Fraud Prevention Act of 2000 was passed to protect against fraud in student financial aid by establishing stricter sentencing guidelines for criminal financial aid fraud. High school counselors, college financial aid administrators, and the Federal Student Aid Information Center all provide help for free. Visit https://studentaid.ed.gov/types/scams for lists of fraud warning signs and free sources of aid information.

If you believe you’ve been a victim of scholarship fraud, call (877) FTC-HELP, visit the Federal Trade Commission: https://www.consumer.ftc.gov/financialaid.

Nondiscrimination Policy Statement: The University of Michigan, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University of Michigan is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, height, weight, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions. Inquiries or complaints may be addressed to the Senior Director for Institutional Equity, and Title IX/Section 504/ADA Coordinator, Office for Institutional Equity, 2072 Administrative Services Building, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109-1432, 734-763-0235, TTY 734-647-1388, institutional.equity@umich.edu. For other University of Michigan information call 734-764-1817.

Complaint Resolution: The University encourages students and prospective students to address complaints relating to U-M’s institutional policies and consumer protection issues first with personnel in the office, department, school, or college that led to the complaint alleged. If needed, senior University administrators may also become involved to help resolve complaints. If you have concerns regarding the quality of instruction provided at the University or the University’s ongoing ability to meet its accreditation requirements, contact the University’s accreditor, the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, using the process described here: www.hlcommission.org/HLC-Institutions/complaints.html. If your concerns about the University involve consumer protection issues, you may file a complaint with the Consumer Protection Division within the Michigan Attorney General’s Office: https://secure.ag.state.mi.us/complaints/consumer.aspx

- Students with complaints that were unresolved at the University level and who reside in a SARA state (www.nc-sara.org), may contact the State of Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (www.michigan.gov/documents/lara/Post-Secondary_Student_Complaints_498839_7.pdf).
- Students in non-SARA states may contact the authority in their home state, which may be found on the Web site of the State Higher Education Executive Officers Association (http://www.sheeo.org/sites/default/files/Directory%20of%20State%20Authorization%20Agencies%20and%20Lead%20Contacts%20-%20Gloria%27s%20drafts%20May%202015%202015.pdf).

Compliance: The U-M Compliance Resource Center website (http://compliance.umich.edu) is a roadmap to compliance at the University of Michigan. It is part of a comprehensive compliance initiative coordinated through the Office of the Vice-President and General Counsel, at the direction of the President and executive leadership team, to map U-M’s legislative and regulatory compliance obligations and activities from an institutional perspective. This website is intended to improve the accessibility of information about the university’s regulatory obligations.

Because of the nature of federal, state, and institutional guidelines affecting financial aid programs, information contained here is subject to change.
